Attorney Max Pam of Chicago, representing the Allis-Chalmers company, declared:

"This is an attempt by the plaintiff, claiming to be the owner of property in Germany, to arrogate to himself the high prerogative of representing the German empire. This is entirely a political question and is not for the courts to decide."

Attorney Henry Cochems for the complainant declared that the action as instituted by General Pearson is independent of political sovereignty and that the private relief sought by his client is the only relief available.

OFFICERS RECAPTURE

MAN WANTED FOR CONDUCTING AND TILLEY.

> Wife Takes Little Girl to Jail With Her and "Dorosy" Has a Great Time.

Chief of Police Guy McNamara and Motorcycle Policeman Alva Tilley caught Charles Coffee, alias J. A. Miller, again yesterday after an all day chase in which every officer in the city received a work out. Coffee is the man who escaped from the county jail yesterday after having been turned over to county authorities by Chief McNamara. Coffee was charged with conducting a raffle, had previously with conducting a raffle, had previously escaped from the city court room and had been recaptured.

The two officers got wind of the man late yesterday afternoon after the chase had slackened. The chief in his automobile and Patrolman Tilley on his motorcycle made quick time to Seventh and Webster streets, where the man was located. With the chief on guard at the entrance to the alley, Policeman Tilley chased the man for several minutes, during which time he cleared several fences. Mr. Tilley laid hold of the man just as he was about to run into the grasp of the chief.

Coffee had enough time to leave the city between his second escape and recapture yesterday afternoon, but probably figured that the officers would watch the railroad stations and preferred to remain in the city until the row had blown over. County officers yesterday arrested Coffee's wife, charged with aiding her husband to escape from the county jail. Mrs. Coffee had gone to the jail to visit her husband, and when officers left the two together in the guard room the prisoner ran out; leaving her little 3½-year-old daughter to the jail with her and she brought a big ray of sunshine with her. She played in the window, stuck her feet out between the bars, announced that her name was "Dorosy" and sang several songs. When asked to sing "Tipperary" she shook her head and sald, "I'm tired of that." Mrs. Coffee was released on bond.

Sheriff Fleming said last night that he wished to thank Chief MoNamara and his officers for helping in the chase and securing the man, who is now placed where he will be unaole to repeat his former tactics.

He stopped to light a cigarette and after doing so threw the match down, instantly igniting the gas pipe. His face is seriously burned but will not likely cause any complications. Jim Harris, a negro working in the ditch with him, was also burned but not as badly as was Reese.

NEW HOG ORDINANCE WILL BE SUBMITTED

MAYOR TO SUGGEST MODIFICA-TION OF PROPOSED LAW AT MEETING TODAY.

City Equalization Board Matter and Moving Ordinance Will Also Come Up.

Mayor Riggins has announced that he will not allow the hog ordinance which came to a tie vote at the meeting of the city commission last Friday to pass in its present form. He will submit at the meeting of the commission this afternoon an ordinance similar to the one now tied up and awaiting the mayor's vote to determine its fate, but which allows a citizen to keep hogs in the city if his immine its fate, but which allows a citizen to keep hogs in the city if his immediate neighbors are willing. "If the commissioners do not accept this ordinance as a substitute to the one voted on," said the mayor yesterday, "we won't have a hog ordinance right now, as I will veto the present one." This procedure would have the effect of killing all legislation on the subject, which would not be objected to by Commissioners Dollins and Richards, who voted no on the ordinance. ards, who voted no on the ordinance.

Mayor Riggins' hog ordinance is the same as the one on which the tie exists, with the exception that a clause ists, with the exception that a clause inserted provides that when a man obtains the written assent of five of his neighbors, he can keep his pig-sty. This is designed to meet the objections of Commissioners Richards and Dollins that the prohibitory ordinance would be unjust to the poor family that keeps a pig in the back yard and thus adds materially to its income and reduces the cost of living thereby.

Among other matters to come up the meeting of the commission this afternoon are the moving ordinance, afternoon are the moving ordinance, which was held up last week, and the question of whether the commission shall sit as a board of equalization, which will probably come up again, despite the action taken by the commission at its last meeting. At that time, upon motion of Commissioner Dollins, Mayor Riggins and Commissioner Dunken were instructed to submit a list of names of persons suitmit a list of names of persons sult-able to compose the board of equaliza-tion for the city taxes. This action indicated that the commission favored employing an equalization board as in former years, instead of acting in that capacity itself. This course had been opposed on the ground that the work could be done by the commission, thus saving the city about $600, the usual cost of the board.

It is probable afternoon on the moving be taken this afternoon on the moving ordinance, which was held up last week, when it met with opposition from Eaton Williams, editor of the Union Standard, and J. D. Willis, rep-resenting the moving and transfer men. Opposition has developed to the ordinance, on the ground that it will benefit only the Retail Merchants' association, by whom it was proposed, and would impose a burden upon the moving men in addition to establishing a system of explorage upon the renting Temple, Texas, May 20.—The Episcopal diocesan council adjourned a two days' session today after reopening the question of clother of his commission can be made by the formal addition to establishing a system of espionage upon the renting class of the city, who compose almost the whole number of persons who move.
